Access Anywhere

eDock Server from Software602 is a secure document server that provides fast and convenient access to documents from anywhere. Revolutionize the way you publish, share and distribute documents online. Allow employees to work remotely from home or in the field, with the same document access they have in the office. Access eDock Server using a standard web browser from your local area network or from anywhere on the Internet. Use eDock Client for direct access from your favorite applications (e.g. 602Pro PC SUITE, MS OFFICE) through the standard Open/Save dialog. Stop sending confidential documents through Internet e-mail. Use eDock Server to secure your communication and overcome user mailbox limits.

Fast Full-Text Search

Save valuable time by using the fast and accurate full-text search within eDock Server. All supported documents are automatically indexed for quick retrieval. Document contents are searched along with all file properties (Title, Author, Subject, Keywords and Comments). Advanced full-text search is available through the web browser as well as through the eDock Client.

Document Management

Organize your documents into three default folders or create your own folder structure. User folders are only accessible by the authorized user, Protected documents are used for exchanging documents with eDock user groups (e.g. employees, partners, etc.) and Public documents are available to any anonymous web site visitor. Be in complete control of who can access your documents!

Easy Administration

Use your web browser for quick and easy eDock Server administration. The administrator has access to create users, manage groups, set file/folder permissions and configure global eDock Server options, all from a simple, easy-to-access interface. With the flexible rights structure you can delegate administration responsibilities to multiple employees without compromising security. Publish forms, templates or documents on your web site without webmaster intervention!

Security and Encryption

To ensure your privacy, all communication TO and FROM eDock Server is encrypted. Three encryption methods, including industry standard 128-bit DES encryption, provide flexibility between performance and security to all stored documents. Any access to eDock Server is authorized through a personal login and password.

Thumbnail and Preview

Thumbnails view provides a graphical presentation of image files to simplify navigation. The preview reveals the content of most common document types without the need to open the document in the application used to create them.

SQL Database Storage

eDock Server's powerful features are inherited from the robust 602SQL database management system. When working with hundreds of documents, database storage can significantly boost the performance of common file functions (e.g. search, move and delete). 602SQL server is included, so no additional integration or cost is required!

Access anywhere secure document server with fast full-text search and easy user management.

How it works?

eDock Server functions similar to a file server with complete user rights, group management and file permissions with document access from anywhere. Its Internet-centric design and easy web administration makes it a perfect low-cost solution for document management. Simple web server integration along with the cost effective price structure eliminates the need for additional licenses for your server operating system or virtual private network. Do not waste time and resources on an overpriced solution that does not include all the features that eDock Server can provide at a fraction of the cost!

To run eDock Server you will need:
